The names of the industries in these profiles are very specific, so if your first search doesn't yield any results, try searching for synonyms and like-terms for that industry. It may also be that what you're searching for is a small part of a larger industry, and the profile is titled by the larger industry.
There's no quick way to know what term to use, so you may have to make a few guesses before you find your profile!

Good guess, but too specific

Just right! This profile covers the greater appliances industry, which includes washing machines.
